

Python OOP Types

- Association: A relationship between two classes that allows one to use the functionality of the other.
- Composition: A form of association where one class is composed of one or more objects of other classes.
- Dependency Injection: Providing an object with its dependencies rather than having it create them itself.